Analysis

Comparison of the results of I semester M.Sc. 2018 and 2019 batch

- In December 2019, a total 21 students appeared in the M.Sc. I semester examination. Out of 21 students, the result reveals that, 7 students are represented with A grade (7.5-10), 10 students represented with B grade (6-7.5) and only 3 represented with C grade (5-6). In this batch, Miss Kaveri Halli has scored 8.38 SGPA (83.8%) followed by Miss Reetu Jangalagi scored 8.17 SGPA (81.7%), Miss Vidyashree Ugrani with 8.07 SGPA (80.7%).
- Compared to the 2018 batch (I semester) number of Distinctions have increased from 4 to 7, but there was no failure in 2018 batch whereas one candidate has failed in 2019 batch
- All first three students secured first, second and third rank in the M.Sc. I semester University examinations. It is observed that, 13 students are obtained below A grade. It is experienced that, many students have poor foundation laid during their graduation course. This is the main the reasons for failure or low score. The students are dragged between the concepts which were stored earlier and which they study newly this laid the students power of grasping the things down and they get confused and results in getting low score or grade in the examination or failure in the examination.

- One student has failed in two subject papers, i.e. Microbial diversity and Systematic Botany of Angiosperms. The student has faced difficulty to read and understand the concept. Even the student has not able to store in her mind due to skimming habit of study and a little bit less concentration during class hours.
